Four Hundred Delegates in Attendance
At Three Days Meet of Santa
Clara Union C. E. District

With about 400 delegates present from all parts of Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Benito, and Monterey counties, the Santa Clara District Christian Endeavor convention opened at the Congregational church last night. The address of the evening was given by Rev. Galen Lee, pastor of the church. The subject was "The Life That Wins," and the address was one of inspiration to the many young Christians who heard him.

CITIZENS ON HIGHWAY CONSIDER PAVING OF HIGHWAY SHOULDERS

A meeting called by the board of trustees of Redwood City last Monday for the owners of property along the highway in Redwood City to consider the type of paving to be used in paving the shoulders of the highway, met with a number of the interested property owners present.

After the matter had been discussed, it was decided to advise the city with a concrete base with an asphalt covering, an all asphalt paving or the type used by the State Highway Commission on the highway between here and Menlo Park. A committee was appointed to secure the general consent of opinion of the property owners along the highway. This committee consists of D. P. Flynn, A. C. Argo, William Gray, Joe Perry, Henry McGarry, all property owners on the highway, and C. L. Dimmitt, city engineer.

This committee will make a canvass of the owners of property affected and will report their findings at the next meeting of the board.

The shoulders of the highway will be paved throughout the length of the town at the town, when this is done the county has agreed to put an asphalt surface on the highway from one city limit to the other, thus giving Redwood City a curb to curb highway of the best type throughout the length of the city. It is expected that work will be started on this as soon as preliminary arrangements have been completed.

MENLO MAN ARRAIGNED ON BOOTLEG CHARGE

Silvia Mangini, proprietor of an alleged bootlegging establishment on Santa Cruz avenue in the Menlo Park district, came into the Court of Justice Ray Griffin, Redwood City, Thursday and asked to be arraigned on a charge preferred against him last week, when his place was raided by a posse under Sheriff T. C. McGovern. Mangini, with several other defendants taken into custody during a series of raids, is charged with the illegal sale of intoxicating liquor. He will enter his plea to the charge next Wednesday in Judge Griffin's court.

SUPERVISORS HOLD BUSINESS MEETING

County Board Considers
Problems at New T. B.
Pavilion

Monday being the regular day for passing the claims of the county, the board devoted the major portion of its time to this task, other matter being taken up later. The first matter to be considered was the question of accepting the map of Palo Alto Park, near Ravenswood. This is a subdivision being made by the Koff Realty Company of San Francisco, and is the object of considerable opposition from residents of the surrounding country. The matter had been postponed twice before, and Monday morning it was taken up again. Another subdivision, that of the Belmont Country Club was next considered, and a map presented by B. Wurth was accepted by the board. The new tuberculosis pavilion at the Community hospital at Beresford received considerable attention from the board. County Engineer George A. Kneese was instructed by the board to construct a roadway connecting the pavilion with the main hospital, and also to repair some parts of the road connecting the hospital with the highway.

County Purchasing Agent Wender informed the board that the wiring at the institution, while it was in accordance with the plans and specifications, did not comply with the state law. It was therefore, agreed that Architect Topke should be present at the next meeting of the board and explain the matter. It was also agreed that some means be found to improve the acoustics of some of the rooms at the hospital, and was referred to the purchasing agent, who will secure prices at which this may be done.

The matter of building a sun porch at the tuberculosis pavilion was also taken up, and Supervisor Brown, and Supervisor Proctor, Fred Taylor and Wilbur Doxsee.

8:30—Address: "The Life That Wins; How Shall I Use It?" Rev. Paul Waterhouse. Solo. Closing.

PESCADERO BURNED

Another of the destructive fires which occur in portions of the county where there is no adequate fire protection, this week destroyed the Carl Coburn house on Pescadero creek, together with most of the household furniture.

The house, a two-story wooden structure, was formerly the residence of William Hayward, grandfather of Mrs. A. S. Kalenborn of this city, and was one of the oldest buildings on the coast.

The fire is said to have started from a leak in an oil stove. It spread rapidly and prevented the saving of any but a few articles of personal property. The fire was discovered when Coburn and his son-in-law, H. Wideman, were away from the ranch. Another son-in-law, George Hartzell, was at the place at the time, and endeavoring to save the dwelling. The flames had too much headway, and rapidly consumed the dry timber.

SAN MATEO COUNTY BUILDING AND LOAN INCREASES CAPITAL STOCK

At a meeting held last Wednesday evening, the San Mateo County Building and Loan Association stockholders voted to increase the stock of the company from 5,000 to 7,500 shares. The limit of the 5,000 shares had been set by the association, and in order to issue new shares it became necessary to secure this increase.

The Building and Loan Association is one of the most beneficial institutions in Redwood City, and has been responsible for the investment here of thousands of dollars which would otherwise have been invested elsewhere. It has been investing in profitable investments, and the local citizen with small savings, it also aids in the development of the town by loaning money for the erection of homes.

Miss Maud Stilleman, who has been teaching in Stanislaus county since the beginning of the present term, was a visitor with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Stilleman, over the week end.

The members of the department are around this week with tickets, and as this is the only time in the year that the department, which is entirely voluntary, comes to the public for money, it is expected that the sale of tickets will be large.

City Briefs

Louis A. Behrens of the First National Bank returned from a hunting trip in Trinity county, Monday. Behrens says that he and his party succeeded in bagging the limit.

Born at Egremont, Alberta, Canada, September 1, 1924, to Mr. and Mrs. Earle E. George, a son.

Miss Barbara Seelye of San Francisco was a visitor this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barry on Heller street.

The ladies of St. Peter's Episcopal church will hold their annual bazaar on the first Friday and Saturday in December.

Mrs. Emile Servau of Eaton road, who was operated on recently in the French hospital in San Francisco, and who was expected to return to her home this week has been obliged to remain in the hospital an additional week. She is expected to return soon.

Mrs. Myrtle Senault has sold her house on Elwood street to Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Moulton, who have moved into the property. The new owner of the property is horticultural inspector of San Francisco, and is a widely known authority of horticultural and entomological matters.

Mrs. A. E. McNeely and Mrs. S. L. Netherton were hostesses to the members of the Ladies Aid Society at their home on Webster street, Wednesday. The day was spent in preparing articles for a bazaar to be held later in the season.

KIWANIS CLUB MEMBERS WILL ALL VOTE NOV. 4

All the members of the Redwood City Kiwanis Club will cast their ballots at the election on November 4. This is because the club believes that good citizenship can best be used in voting. Another reason, although less important is that every member who does not vote will be taxed to the amount of five dollars at the next meeting of the club following the election. Such is the edict of the club.

The matter was brought up at the meeting of the club this week, when Secretary A. C. Argo, made a motion to that effect. The motion was unanimously passed, and the club members for not voting will excuse a member for not doing his duty as a citizen.

The chief speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon this week was Raymond O. Hanson, general boy scout executive of San Francisco, who delivered an interesting address on the "boy problem." Hanson declared that the chief trouble with boys was a lack of sympathy and understanding on the part of the elders. Tuesday he is releasing the picture at the Sequoia Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next, October 22-23.

BIG FURNITURE SALE TO START TODAY

The partnership of Woodhams and McNeill is to be dissolved, and the large stock of furniture which the partners have at their local store is to be sold at a great reduction, in order to effect a settlement. This announcement was made this week by the local furniture dealers, and since that time the store has been closed and preparations made for the big sale, which is to start this morning.

The Young Ladies Auxiliary of the Congregational church held a meeting Wednesday night which was well attended. The young ladies are planning some very beneficial work for the church.

Mrs. A. E. McNeely and Mrs. S. L. Netherton were hostesses to the members of the Ladies Aid Society at their home on Webster street, Wednesday. The day was spent in preparing articles for a bazaar to be held later in the season.

GODDESS OF LOVE ARE ALIVE TODAY

Like Venus of Rome, and Aphrodite of Greece, "Cytherea," a Sam-elite Goldwyn-George Fitzmaurice production, represented in symbolic form the highest and noblest expression of love of the ancient Ionians.

"Cytherea," which is an adaptation of Joseph Hergesheimer's famous novel, is a drama of high emotion, reflecting the theme that the spirit of these three love goddesses still lives in the hearts of the modern society woman. Alma Kubens takes the part of Savina Grove, "Cytherea," Irene Rich as Fanny Randon reflects the spirit of ideal womanhood, while Constance Bennett conveys the spirit of Aphrodite, sexy and beautiful.

George Fitzmaurice selected Lewis Stone and Norman Kerry as the male novel, completing a cast to which "all star" can be rightfully applied.

Three distinct innovations in color photography will be employed in the three sequences of "Cytherea." First National is releasing the picture at the Sequoia Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next, October 22-23.

MEETING HELD IN SAN MATEO TO FOSTER S. F. AMALGAMATION

A meeting was held in San Mateo city hall to discuss amalgamation of this county with San Francisco. This is being fostered by certain "red" men in San Mateo, and by the local furniture dealers, and since that time the store has been closed and preparations made for the big sale, which is to start this morning.

There was much disappointment here at our inability to see the transit of the Shenandoah. The boys had been poling the lenses of their field glasses for a week in anticipation of the event.

WOODSIDE NOTES

The rain was a most welcome visitor to Woodside on Wednesday night. The rain-gauge showed a precipitation of .75 of an inch, a very creditable performance for October. Already a green film is showing on the hillsides, and it was not long before the rain was making the hillsides look upon this as an earnest of what the season of the future will be. We may banish our fear of another year of drought.

A number of the citizens of Woodside answered the call of the county committee on Tuesday night and reported at Redwood City for duty in the Coolidge campaign.

WHY CHANGE?

IN all his public career, Calvin Coolidge has stood for the general welfare and has never tried to promote his political interests by bidding for the support of any one class or section. His political principles are the same in the East as in the West. He believes in a square deal for all and special privileges for none.

WHY CHANGE?

Under Republican leadership this Nation has served the cause of international peace and disarmament more than any other nation and has maintained national sovereignty unimpaired without shirking any international duty or responsibility.

WHY CHANGE?

There is no reason to believe or even to hope that with a change of administration the business of the Nation would be better conducted than at present. There is every reason to believe it would not be conducted so well.

WHY CHANGE?

Coolidge has always been a great vote-getter because the people have had confidence in his integrity and his ability and his courage. We have a public servant who has always made good.

WHY CHANGE?

Under the Republican Administration we have cut expenses, reduced taxes, reduced the national debt, and established a Budget System which guarantees that there will be no deficits.

WHY CHANGE?

Under the Republican Administration, every class of people in the United States is better off than it has been before for years, and better off than the corresponding class in any other nation on earth.

WHY CHANGE?

Every citizen has confidence that as President of the United States, Calvin Coolidge will treat all people alike, regardless of race or religion, section or class.

WHY CHANGE?

Under the present administration the people of the country are prosperous, and are enjoying the rights of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.

Every voter knows the business of the government is safe with Coolidge in the White House.

WHY CHANGE?

NOT PROHIBITIVE

REPUBLICAN tariffs are not intended to be prohibitive, and they never are. They are designed to serve as a partial barrier to importations, so that cheap products from abroad shall not ruin the home market for American products. We have a tariff on cotton textiles, yet millions of yards of cotton cloth are imported, thus demonstrating that the tariff is not prohibitive, and does not foster monopolies. The foreign producer has demonstrated his ability to ship goods here notwithstanding the duty. We have a 15-cent tariff on corn, yet we are informed by the Mobile, Alabama Register, a Democratic paper, that a firm of importers has arranged for the importation of a cargo of Argentine corn for sale in the Southeastern states. That fact demonstrates two things—that the tariff is not prohibitive and also that if it were not for the 15-cent duty Argentina would be shipping corn into the United States at a price 15 cents under the present price. Our Democratic friends may strive to convince the American farmer that he gets no benefit from the tariff but they cannot get far with an American corn grower. He has sense enough to know that if Argentina corn can be brought in here and pay a 15-cent duty, it could be brought in in immensely larger quantities if there were no duty. The American corn grower will not vote for a party that proposes to repeal that duty.

CONSISTENCY NOT A VIRTUE

THE desire of the third party leaders to make Congress the final judge of the constitutionality of its own acts indicates a confidence in our national legislative body on the part of the radicals that has not been apparent heretofore. Congress passed the tariff law, which has been attacked by third party leaders as one of the greatest outrages of this generation. Congress enacted the Transportation Act of 1920, which the third party platform denounces. Most of the criticism of the third party orators has been directed against legislation by a Congress condemned as merely a tool of Wall Street. Now the followers of La Follette want to deprive the Supreme Court of its right of Constitutional review and lodge that right in the Congress against which they have so violently stormed. Consistency is not a virtue of the third party campaigners.

RADIO WORLD

WE are indeed living in a radio age. It can truthfully be said that this has become a radio world.

As a home builder and conservator of family life, radio has come at an opportune time—millions of families gathering in the home to hear the news and enjoy the music. Few people fully comprehend the extent to which the radio is now employed in the guidance of ships. Not only ships at sea but lighthouses along the shore enjoy the benefits of communication and radio signals from ships.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE says that the great urge and wish of the American people is to be let alone. He runs his job on the level and well. He brings to it the common sense which Americans admire more than any other of the rare virtues. He is a doer rather than a talker. He is not a Napoleon and does not pretend to be one. He is Calvin Coolidge, straight, efficient, upright, courageous, honest to us as well as with us, and his one desire is to give us a good run for our money. He has the people with him. He detests the taint of hokum politics; and we have had our hand shaken and our pockets picked so often. As Calvin Coolidge we want him for our president.

TWENTY YEARS OF PROGRESSIVE GROWTH

IN the score of years that have elapsed since the BANK OF ITALY first opened its doors for business, October 17, 1904, a new era of prosperity has come to California.

Agriculture—always a basic factor in the life and affairs of the Golden State—has found new allies. The rapid increase in the volume of manufactured products, the steady growth in maritime trade, the development of hydro-electric power and oil production, and the great impetus to business occasioned by a multiplication in population, have given to California a measure of completeness unknown to earlier years.

No less impressive has been the increase in banking service.

These 20 years have seen the Bank of Italy take rank among the nation's foremost institutions. In scope of facilities, in the number of depositors it serves, in the amount of banking capital and total resources, it stands a commanding figure in the field of commerce and finance.

What has been done in creating this organization—covering the state in all its important centers of industry and production—is not the work of a single individual, nor of a small group.

To the great army of depositors, numbering more than half a million people, proper appreciation must be expressed. By their united patronage and the weight of their combined resources, they have consistently contributed to the progress of this great California institution.

To the 75,000 school children depositors who have built with confidence in their own future and in the future of this bank, sincere acknowledgement is given. Their eager interest has been a constant source of inspiration. They have, by their example, aided in a material way the growth of the Bank of Italy and the progressive development of the state itself.

To the bank's employees, whose loyal service and willingness have won a greater measure of popular approval for the institution, due credit is accorded. They represent a tangible asset of inestimable value—value to the bank because of their specialized, technical knowledge and value to the bank's customers because they give thoughtful, conscientious service.

To the 14,000 stockholders of the bank, a special word is said in recognition of their faith in the management of the institution, and the principles for which it stands. Through their ready and consistent response to the demands of progress, they have assembled a tremendous banking capital that keeps pace with the steady growth in deposits.

Finally, there is given a pledge of integrity to the people of this Pacific Commonwealth, that in its interpretation of banking service the Bank of Italy will steadfastly adhere to the characteristics that have won for it the respect and trust of those who are its customers.

"I feel that they are perfectly safe and free from

I am away from home they can easily operate the gas heating equipment just as they need it."
After analyzing my gas bills for the past heat-month for the year. This I believe is very reasonable considering that our six room house is comfortably heated at all times."

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

The Main street of Menlo Park is looking its best again. The hideous piles of dirt are removed, rock hauled away, and the curbing put down. All the businesses are moving into the new buildings, and the wide streets and inviting appearance of the same will bring business from now on.

Local hunters are bringing in good strings of ducks from nearby marshes. The recent precipitation will cause a flight of birds from the north. Hunters are looking forward to some good shooting.

The San Francisco Cottage on the highway was sold yesterday to San Francisco parties for $5,000. It was erected many years ago by the late Mrs. Leland Stanford as the home of Rev. Scott, pastor of the local Presbyterian church. Mrs. Stanford was a member of the church and contributed largely to it. The Scotts lived there for a long time, going from here to San Francisco. Mr. Scott has long since passed to his reward.

A straw vote was taken in this neighborhood during the week, with the following result: Menlo Park, 102; Davis 20, LaFollette 63; Base hospital, Coolidge 60, Davis 5, LaFollette 49; Runnymede, Coolidge 120, Davis 10; LaFollette 32; Atherton, Coolidge 35, Davis 3; LaFollette 32; Stanford Park, Coolidge 20, Davis 2, LaFollette 8.

Mrs. Robert Carroll has purchased the Hannah Burke place on Robie avenue paying the sum of $4700 for it. Mrs. Carroll is planning to improve the property.

There was a big republican rally at Palo Alto last evening. The principal speaker was John McNab who eloquently expounded republican doctrine to one of the largest assemblages ever seen in the College town. From the enthusiasm manifested it is certain that Coolidge will get a two for one vote there.

H. A. Chandler has taken over the groceries in the O'Keefe block and it will be known as the Star Groceries. Mr. Chandler some time ago managed the concern for Mr. B. H. Himmann of Redwood City. A fruit and vegetable department is to be added to the store. Mr. Chandler's charming wife will aid him in conducting the business.

Committees appointed to make preliminary plans for a swimming pool at Menlo Park met Wednesday and reported progress. A committee on ways and means has been studying the financing of the project and another group has been attempting to find a possible location.

Mr. and Mrs. James Flood and their daughter, Miss Mary Emma Flood, will stay at their country place in Menlo Park until November 1. They will then return to San Francisco and open their home on Broadway for the winter.

Mrs. Julia Collins and Mrs. J. Guthrie of San Francisco are visiting Mrs. J. J. Murray in Menlo Park.

Mrs. Martin Walsh is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Frank Kelly, in San Francisco.

A dance will be given this evening Duff and Doyle under the auspices of Menlo Parlor N. D. G. W. Dancing is to continue until 2 o'clock. An enjoyable evening is anticipated by the members of the parlor.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. C. Hahn and daughter, Louise, have returned to Menlo Park after several months' absence. They went abroad last summer with Mr. and Mrs. Leon Douglass and family, but stopped in Columbus, Ohio, on their return for a visit with Mrs. Hahn's relatives there.

Mr. B. Scanlon of Menlo Park this week sold the two remaining lots unsold on the Highway in Stanford Park. He purchased them last July for $2500 and this week disposed of them to a city party for $4500, realizing $1000 profit in that short time.

Mrs. L. J. Scanlon of Menlo Park this week sold the two remaining lots unsold on the Highway in Stanford Park. He purchased them last July for $2500 and this week disposed of them to a city party for $4500, realizing $1000 profit in that short time.

On Wednesday evening, October 23, in Duff and Doyle hall, a card party will be given by St. Joseph's Alumni. Admission 25 cents. Good prizes are to be awarded the winners.

Menlo Park is to have a planing mill. It's to be constructed at once on property on the Highway, just a short distance above San Francisco. A number of men are to be employed at the mill. The proprietor is a wealthy Palo Alto resident. Several thousand dollars are to be expended upon the plant and equipment.

C. L. Kurtz, a prominent local resident, met with a painful accident Wednesday evening, when passing over the highway to his home. He was run down by an automobile. Two machines were passing in opposite directions, near the Little Green Door and Mr. Kurtz was between them. He no doubt became confused and stepped in front of the north bound auto. Mr. Kurtz was removed to his home and later to the Palo Alto hospital, where it was found his injuries were not very serious. He suffered a dislocation of the collar bone and some slight bruises. Mr. Taylor of Palo Alto, the young man driving the machine, stopped his car and rendered aid. No blame is attached to him for the accident, as he could not avoid it. Mr. Kurtz has exonerated him from all blame. Mr. Kurtz was brought home from the hospital yesterday.

Cable Reel

The sight of a Western Electric cable reel in the streets of our cities is a familiar one. All the cable used in the Bell System is manufactured by the Western Electric Company at its big Hawthorne works in Chicago, but so great has been the demand for telephone cable that another huge plant is being constructed at Kearny, New Jersey, which, when completed, will greatly increase the cable output of the company.

The use of telephone cable dates back to the early history of the telephone business. As early as 1882 experiments were made in putting the telephone wires in underground cables, and since that time a great deal of study and experimentation has been devoted to cable transmission, with the result that today more than 85 per cent of the telephone wire in the Bell System is in cable, about three-quarters of which is underground.

Many Obstacles Overcome
At first it was thought that the development of the telephone business would be seriously handicapped by the fact that transmission in cables was much more difficult than in open wire circuits, the transmission loss in a telephone circuit in a cable one mile long being as great as the loss in about 50 miles of open wire. In this comparison small gauge wire cable conductors are contrasted with large gauge open wire conductors. One by one the obstacles to underground transmission were overcome, notable advances in the art of loading and balancing underground circuits and great improvements in intermediate apparatus were made, and in 1913 the long-cable underground cable system in the world was completed between Washington, D. C., and Boston, covering a distance of about 450 miles.

Comparatively recent developments in transmission have greatly increased the use of cables and an all-cable toll line between New York and Chicago is approaching completion.

How Cable is Made
The process of manufacturing the dry cable cable, now in general use, is extremely interesting. The materials of which cable is manufactured are copper wire, paper, tar, and lead. These come to the Hawthorne works by the carload, the wire in coils, the paper in rolls slit to the proper width, and the lead in bars known as "pigs." The wire has been drawn to the proper diameter and is thoroughly annealed so as to be soft and flexible. The paper is made in thickness from two and one-half one-thousandths to four one-thousandths of an inch. It is manufactured for the particular purpose, and the composition is such as to insure a strong and durable product. The lead sheets, which are commercial lead and antimony of special degree of purity, come direct from the refiner.

The first step in the making of cable is the insulating of the copper wires with paper. This is done by insulating machines, which wrap the paper tape around the wire in the form of a continuous helix, overlapping at the edges. These machines put on about 2400 turns in a minute. Each wire must be completely covered with paper throughout its entire length so that it cannot touch any other wire in the cable. If two of the wires touch each other even at a single point, a telephone circuit is ruined. Various colored papers are used in order to identify the two wires of each pair, and also certain groups of pairs in the finished cable.

After the wires are paired, they are formed into a cable by the stranding machine. This machine consists of a number of revolving drums, which look like enormous skeleton spools.

Accurately Measured
It is important to the customer that the length be absolutely correct, and a check measurement is usually obtained by means of a recording device on the front of the stranding machine and by weighing the completed core. Cables vary in length from a few feet up to 600 or 700 feet for underground cables and up to 2,500 feet for small sizes of aerial cables.

After leaving the stranding machine, the length of cable core is carefully tested to see that there are no broken wires and that the paper insulation is in satisfactory condition.

The core is then dried in vacuum ovens heated to about 250 degrees Fahrenheit until the moisture in the paper insulation has been driven out. The presence of an appreciable amount of moisture in the paper insulation renders the cable useless.

Applying the Sheath
When the core has been thoroughly dried it is put through the last manufacturing process, that of applying the sheath. The sheath is composed of an alloy of lead with approximately 1 per cent antimony, and is applied by a lead press or sheathing machine, which is essentially a machine for making lead pipe.

After the cable has cooled, it is given a final and very thorough electrical test. It is very essential that every cable contain at least as many perfect pairs of wires as are called for in the order, and for this reason a few extra pairs are usually included in the core to make up for defective pairs which occasionally develop during the manufacturing operations.

If the cable tests are satisfactory, the sheath is sealed up at the ends to prevent possible entrance of moisture, the reel is boarded up and the finished product is ready for shipment.

In the year 1923 the Western Electric Company produced lead-covered telephone cable carrying 24 billion feet of copper wire.

Individual Service—Nation-Wide Facilities

TELEPHONE service is essentially an individual service. Each subscriber must be dealt with as an individual. His telephone instrument is a piece of individual, personal equipment. But to coordinate this instrument with a nation-wide system requires supplementary facilities in wholesale quantities.

In itself, this instrument represents only a relatively small investment. Its proportionate share, however, in the total investment in wire, poles, switchboards, buildings and other plant required to make Bell System service universal in scope is an hundred times its own value. This investment per instrument is steadily increasing as more and more equipment, constantly growing more complex, is put into service at the present high prices of labor and materials.

Centralized manufacture and years of continuous research have enabled the Bell System in some measure to meet this rising tide of plant investment. The result is that its service remains unrivalled not only in efficiency and in extent but in economy from the standpoint of cost to the subscriber.
